

The day I met the Queen

By Cody

Last Monday, the Queen came to Bracknell. I was right up front and gave her a bunch of danelions.

When she bent down to take them from me, her crown fell off her head and fell right in front of me and she didnt even notice. I tried to call out to her but she didnt hear me. I knew I couldnt keep it, so I asked Mummy and Daddy if we could go to Buckingham Palance to return it.

When we got there, I knocked on the door and the Queen answered.

'Queen, you dropped your crown' I said

'Well, thank you Cody. I am so thankful you brought this back to me, I am going to personally make you a cake' The Queen said

'Yes please' I said

I sat patiently in her sitting room while she baked the cake. A very short time later, the Queen came in with a colossal sized cake of her palace made of chocolate and pineapple sponage with sasuage flavoured icing and coved in pink, blue and brown frosting. It was suprisingly delicious and we spent a lovely afternoon eating cake and chatting about my great adventure to meet the Queen.
